Tutoring Experience

Over the past nine years, I've guided students through challenging topics in IB History, from 20th-century conflicts to historical analysis essays. I have extensive experience preparing students for both internal assessments and final exams, ensuring clarity and depth in their understanding.

Additionally, I've worked with A-Level and AP students, focusing on comparative history and document-based questions. My one-on-one sessions include coursework assistance and skill-building, enabling students to confidently approach complex historical contexts and academic challenges.
